

Function 02 — Identity, Onboarding & Headquarters Activation

This becomes the complete journey from the moment a visitor clicks Get Started Free until they enter HQ for the first time.

Purpose

Design a frictionless, premium, and secure journey that transforms a visitor into a Headquarters Owner.

Rather than asking users to create an account immediately, HQ first learns about their business, prepares their Headquarters, and only then asks them to verify their identity to activate it.

Unlike traditional SaaS products that ask users to create an account before providing value, HQ first helps users build their Headquarters, understand their business, and configure their AI Executive Team. Identity verification is the final step that activates the Headquarters.

The onboarding experience should feel like welcoming a new company into HQ—not filling out registration forms.

The experience should feel like establishing a new headquarters rather than registering for software.

Product Philosophy

The onboarding and identity experience must:

Feel conversational rather than administrative.

Ask only for information that delivers value.

Build trust before requesting authentication.

Make identity verification the final activation step.

Deliver a memorable first impression of HQ.

Launch First Guided Mission

Step 1 — Welcome to HQ

Introduce HQ as an AI Executive Headquarters.

Explain that the process takes approximately five minutes and results in a fully configured Headquarters with an AI Executive Team.

Primary action:

Let's Begin

Step 2 — Let's Build Your Headquarters

Explain what HQ will do during setup:

Learn about the business.

Configure the Headquarters.

Assemble the Executive Team.

Prepare the workspace.

Step 3 — Discovery Your Business

Collect essential business information through a conversational interface.

Examples:

Company name

Industry

Business description

Country

Company size

Step 4 — Organization Profile

Collect operational preferences:

Time zone

Language

Website (optional)

Primary customer type

Step 5 — Business Goals

Ask what the customer wants HQ to help achieve first.

Examples:

Increase revenue

Marketing

Product development

Operations

Finance

Customer support

Strategy

Allow multiple selections.

Step 6 — Headquarters Configuration

Configure:

Headquarters name

Logo (optional)

Brand color (optional)

Keep optional items skippable for MVP.

Step 7 — Meet Your Executive Team

Introduce the AI executives with a premium boardroom preview.

Avoid technical explanations; focus on how each executive helps the business.

Step 8 — Review Your Headquarters

Display a summary of all collected information.

Allow edits before activation.

Step 9 — Activate Your Headquarters

Message:

Your Headquarters is ready.

Verify your identity to activate it and enter HQ.

Option 1 — Continue with Google

Authenticate via Google.

Create the owner account if it doesn't exist.

Link it to the Headquarters.

Activate the organization.

Option 2 — Continue with Email

Enter email address and password.

Receive a one-time password (OTP).

Verify the OTP.

Create the owner account.

Link it to the Headquarters.

Activate the organization.

For the MVP, no password is required.

Step 10 — Headquarters Initialization

After successful verification, HQ performs the setup automatically.

Show a premium initialization sequence:

Creating your Headquarters...

Configuring your Executive Team...

Preparing your workspace...

Securing your organization...

Finalizing setup...

End with:

Your Headquarters is Ready.

Step 11 — Welcome to HQ

The CEO greets the user:

Welcome. Your Executive Team is online and ready to help you achieve your goals.
